

Education Program

“Collaboration technology and impeccable audio quality in the education space has been an area of focus for Yamaha since the beginning.

Our Dean’s List Program has been beneficial to educational organizations for years, but by increasing the discount, we’re showing that we are even more committed than before to helping future generations gain access to such tools at affordable prices.

Yamaha thrives on improving performance and creating unique, modern learning spaces—after all, new learning needs new environments—so, we must allow that technology to be a driving force in education as well.”

Mike Fitch, VP of Sales and Marketing, Yamaha Unified Communications
